

The Campaign

There seems to be a disposition on the part of some of the "princes of the quill" to discover a flaw in the garment of merit that so gracefully adorns the person and character of the brave General now commanding the District of Utah, and at present near the Headquarters of his late field of activity, the District of the Plains.

It is the peculiarity of some diminutive minds to regard the elevation, and the onward and upward progress of those possessing more merit than themselves, with an envious jealousy, as if becoming their own character as men, as it is unjust to those whom it leads them to admire. Men of the most sterling qualities suffer from the abuses of this class. The existence of true merit and a modesty of men in others is seldom acknowledged by them; or, if acknowledged, represented as a mere assumed superiority that but a little time and a few adverse circumstances will be sufficient to remove, and present the character of their possessor before the world in a most unfavorable light. This envious class are sometimes so decidedly egotistical, at others so greedy of praise for the keenness of their penetration or the promotion of some of their own clique, that, though they perceive the eminent superiorities of those they so unfairly criticize, they never openly acknowledge them. From the tenor and language of their criticism, one unacquainted with the peculiar characteristics of these hypercritics, or the subject of their unrelenting, would be led to entertain a very exalted opinion of their character—their abilities—and but a very indifferent one of his.

We hold to the conviction that the members of the newspaper fraternity have a right, and from the very nature of their profession are expected, to examine and point out defects in the plans and operations of public men, and to make such suggestions as they honestly believe would conduce to the public weal; but we neither claim, nor are we willing to concede to others, the right (if any such right there can be) to reduce the character of our public men, to impute to them, without solid grounds to justify the imputations, improper and unworthy motives,—to dim the lustre of their deeds of triumph by reproachful insinuations,—or attempt to shake the public confidence in their worth and ability by attributing to incapacity, hindrances and adversities caused by circumstances over which it were impossible they should have exercised control.

AN ADDRESS TO THE PEOPLE.

BY A RESIDENT OF UTAH.

Among those who went out from S. L. City to meet and assist the incoming emigrants so fearfully belated and snow-bound, were George D. Grant and Col. Robt. T. Burton. The former conducted himself with a zeal and dignity worthy the cause of humanity—the latter, as tenderly as his sin-hardened nature would allow.

When the emigrants arrived at Devil's Gate (by the way, a very appropriate name, seeing you have to pass through it coming westward, to get at an entry to this sulphurous kitchen, and a name that should in justice be given to some pass on every side by which an entry into this valley is gained,) they had to leave their baggage in charge of men selected to guard it through the winter. The men appointed to this charge were destitute of provisions; sufficient for the winter had therefore to be left them. In consequence of this arrangement, the company's provisions being exhausted when succor reached them they were still rationed to four ounces per diem. Complaint having been made that even this quantity was not given fairly, Mr. Grant deputed Burton to weigh a day's rations, issued for three persons, that had been brought to him for inspection. Burton weighed the flour, and instead of twelve ounces, there were but six. It is due Mr. Grant, and the credit is cheerfully accorded, to state that he had the matter rectified.

The same quantity had been issued numbers of times before, and though complaint was made, there was no remedy. Insult was but added to robbery, and the wronged ones sent unrequited away, while Tyler and the Captain sat in their tent enjoying a sufficiency. They had no sympathy for others, or they concealed it most effectually. The sick, the maimed, the dying, lay around them unheeded, and when the only one in the company who seemed really to care and feel for the sufferings of others, had, after being up five nights ministering to the sick and drawing her hand-cart by day, reduced herself to a state of weakness, they refused at first, to let her ride, and the captain of her division, an ignorant as contemptible as tyrannical, named Wiggins, told her that "she deserved a good horse whipping," a punishment, she being the weaker party, he, like all cowardly braves, would, doubtless, have felt great pleasure in inflicting.

Could the whole history of these travels be published, it would unfold a dark page that should mantle the cheeks of church officials with a blush of shame crimson as their own blood; but my readers would sicken with the details. Enough is already written to give them a clear insight into the matter—more would tend to disgust.

The hand-cart system was abolished in 1861. The emigrants that came by that method in 1860, started and arrived early, and fared as well as it would be reasonable to expect emigrants of such a class could fare.

Before closing this branch of my subject, I purpose to give the financial status of the hand-cart system, and in order to do this justly, I will select the finances of one company as an example, and give them fully.

At the time of the organization of the company, or before it "relied out" on its overland trip, six wagons, with six head of oxen to each wagon, forty hand carts, twelve yager rifles, three horse pistols, ten tents, and provisions for the journey, were turned over to the company, with the bill of the entire outfit, amounting to four thousand, three hundred and forty dollars and eighty-two cents, ($4,340.82). The quantity of Flour and Bacon was wholly inadequate to supply the needs of the travellers; but arrangements were made with Brigham Young to furnish these two articles at different points on the route in quantities to suit. These arrangements were carried out, Brigham charging for the flour so furnished ten dollars, and for the bacon, thirty-two dollars per hundred pounds. The entire expense of the company was thus augmented to six thousand two hundred and ninety-nine dollars, eighty cents ($6,299.80). This was the whole amount of the company's indebtedness to the Church, and included teams, hand carts and everything connected with the company's outfit.

It is clearly evident from the foregoing that the property in possession must be taken into consideration in the credit side of their account, as well as the entire income derived and derivable from their investments and promises.

In ordinary cases, it would be hardly just to take promises into consideration in an account of balance a cash balance, without making a statement of the value of the promises. Emigration debts, removes the ordinary consistent objection that would arise in ordinary cases, and places such notes above par. The author has witnessed the taking of a horse worth two hundred and fifty dollars for a paltry sum of sixty-six dollars; and of a cow worth fifty-five for a sum of fifteen dollars; and in another case, of upwards of seven hundred dollars worth of property for a debt of less than one hundred dollars. If, therefore, any of the notes should be not redeemed, the amount in value distrained from such unfortunate delinquents as those in the cases above quoted, are more than ample to cover all deficiencies, and justify the entry of the aggregate amount of the notes given, on the credit side of the account, at par.

The credit side of the company whose debt has been, would therefore stand thus:

By amount prepaid for full shares, $ 1,977.00
By amount prepaid for part shares, 408.74
By amount of promissory notes &c., 2,145.54
By amount realized to church from extra luggage freighted in Companies teams 3,000 lbs @ 25¢ 750.00
By value of 25 head of oxen, (died en route) @ $40 1,000.00
By value of 40 hand-carts, @ $25 1,000.00
By value of 11 Hides @ $12 each, 132.00
By value of 1 Hides damaged @ $6 6.00
By value of 3 Pistols @ $3 each 9.00
By value of 3 do. damaged @ $3 9.00
By value of 10 Tents @ $25 each 250.00
By value of 1 Horse and saddle, 100.00

Total amount of Credit $ 8,586.84
Total amount of Debt 6,299.80
Profit realized $2,287.04

Now it so happens that of the total amount of debt, two thousand one hundred and seventeen dollars, and sixty-three cents, was incurred for the purchase of provisions on the route, that should have been supplied at the furnishing depot, and which would have cost there but seven hundred and eighty-four dollars, sixty-two and a-half cents, thereby effecting a saving of one thousand three hundred and thirty-three dollars, and a-half cent, ($1,333.2100), and augmenting the profits to three thousand six hundred and twenty dollars, and nine cents, ($3,620.9100). The objection will be urged that extra teams would have been required to draw the freight, thereby necessitating greater outlay. True, but this after all is no argument in favor of church economy, for the teams, after being used for hauling the provisions, would have realized one-half more than their original cost in the States.

It will, therefore, be evident to my readers, that there was either some gross mismanagement, or there was an ulterior object in view, which led to the course adopted. This will be determined in my next article.

NORFOLK AND LODI.

Sacramento, Sept. 23.

In the great three-mile-heat race today, between Norfolk and Lodi, the first heat was run in—5:27½, the best time on record. It was won by Norfolk by a length. The second heat Norfolk won by about six lengths; time—5:29½. Lodi was lame, having a hoof split, and came home on the second heat with blood issuing from his foot at every step.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Chapman, Mrs. Flora Caven, Miss Emma Perkins, De Witt Waugh, Taylor, and a whole troupe of high-toned artists, are amusing the citizens of Virginia, Montana, at the present. The Post local, speaking of Harry Taylor as Mose, the fireman, says he "looked like one of Big Sixes transplanted." That's tolerably clear, if one only understood it.

An agent of an association of Boston capitalists recently visited Colorado to examine the iron resources of that territory. His report has not yet been made public. It is claimed by Coloradans that the furnaces already established have proved profitable, and that whether capitalists deem the manufacture of iron in Colorado a good investment or not, their own citizens find it so, and by their industry and perseverance will eventually convince the world of it.

Local and Miscellaneous.

It is said to be a fact, when of love and peace there's sweetly singing, but diamond be thy part, my ring. When crime's dark bells are round thee ringing.

For reading matter, for the Sabbath day, go to Gray's or Brown's book-store.

"It hath been chosen his part," says Shakespeare, "who seeks to please every body."

A MARIQUETTE editor prayed for rain and it came the very next day. He is to be canonized.

A man in New York set his wife on fire. The police burst into the house and extinguished her and put him out.

Ross, who is a Baltimore building a cigar-shaped war-steamer in London. It will probably all end in smoke.

Brigham Young and posse comitatus came back from southern Utah yesterday, as we were informed.

STABLE OF JACKSON & CHAPIN are "flying" around Camp, now-a-days.

THE TROOPS at Camp Douglas U. T. will be reviewed and inspected by Lt. Col. Milo George, to day at 10 o'clock A. M.

We were shown a potatoe from the Companies' "Potatoes," at Camp Douglas, that weighed three and one half pounds.

THE FASHION at the East is for ladies to have swallows on their bouquets. The gentlemen take theirs into their stomachs.

ONE OF THE WAGONS FOR SALE. See advertisement of Messrs. Wilkinson & Fenn. They have any quantity of oxen and wagons waiting for a fair bid.

RELIGIOUS NOTICE.—Rev. J. Milton will preach in the Theater of this post, on Sunday the 1st proximo, at 3 P. M. Subject, "The Grave." All are cordially invited to attend.

Is Brigham Young's 100 wives favor their lord with curtain lectures, what, oh what, must be the nature of "Young's Night Thoughts?" asks The Saturday Press.

There's a vocal and instrumental concert at the Utah Ward Assembly Rooms, this evening. Good chance, that, to see the singers. Lots of 'em are on the bill, artists and vocal volunteers.

We hear that the theatrical troupes from town, the Irwins and the Grahams-Leslie folks, have been facing well in the "provincial places." Shall be pleased to bid them welcome back, before many days more.

MESSRS. MYERS & FERRENT's concerts, and exhibitions, at the Music Hall, have been enjoyed by big crowds of citizens and their wives. The entertainment of Thursday evening was well attended, and afforded a big treat to those that thronged the Hall.

BRILLIANT.—Major-General Dodge, in a private telegram from Denver 26th inst., to a gentleman friend now visiting this city, A. D. Richardson, Esq., alludes to General Dodge's "light on Powder River and pronounces them "the most most brilliant in the history of Indian warfare."

A young lady by the name of Jones, was arrested in Albany the other day, charged with leading a young man aged eighteen years, from "the path of rectitude." This a novel charge. The complaint was the young man's father. The lady was "held to answer!"

The Court of Hymen has become a popular institution in diverting confiscation of rebel estates. Numerous instances are reported where Southern planters have given all their landed properties in marriage with their daughters to faithful Union soldiers.

The Shreveport News of the 12th says, "The abundant fifty cents per bushel. There is a great deal of sickness and heavy mortality among the freed people in the city and vicinity. Exposure, sickness and want seem to have been the principal causes of the great fatality which prevails among them."

Mr. Richardson, of the New York Tribune, journeying with Speaker Colfax's party from California to Oregon, writes: "We passed the grave of a rich citizen, buried upon his own farm, whose monument bears this inscription, written by himself:—"

Thomas M. Wright lived and died an atheist, fearing no hell, hoping for no heaven—a friend and advocate of mental liberty."

This evening's annex will close September's history. In fact, it will be number 4 with the things that were. The season of the white and yellow leaf is settling in right quickly.

FUNNY PHRASES.—There is an advertisement in the Holy Family, "Academy of the Holy Family," for young ladies, St. Ignace Mission, Montserrat, as follows:—For further information, address Rev. Mother Mary, (of the Infant Jesus,) Superiress, 36 miles south of Idaho. self has never met.

THE Aitchison Free Press, daily and weekly, is one of the best papers that you can subscribe for from the States.

Address F. A. Reed & Co., publishers & proprietors, Aitchison, Kansas, P. S. If it's the same to you, enclose a two dollar bill, for the weekly, or $8 for the daily, and 'twill settle the subscription matter for a full year.

Edwin Booth, the actor, got married to a Philadelphia fellow the other day. His name is Herne; and he's in the business of "teaching" the theatricals; the papers say that Edwin Booth is to appear on the stage this season; and that John Drougham, after a long stay in England, will shine forth in New York the coming winter.

Hon. Senator Nesmith and Mr. Bush, from Oregon, en route to Washington, will leave next Monday morning. With whole lots of folks and friends, we unite in acknowledging the highest compliments to Senator Nesmith for his happy manner of showing his good round sense. Statesman-like clever, since he struck the city. It takes a smart man and a philosopher to feel he is—well, what he ought to be.

ITEMS around town are scarce, considering the "size and age" of the Great city. Deaths, births, marriages, matrimonial shipwrecks and such sensations are not findable, even with a field-glass.

Wagons and teams and teamsters and truck, and things kindred, are all that's to be seen upon the streets these days. Now and then there sails along a craft of interest above the average, but not often.

"CHEAP JOHN FROM IDAHO."—The public interest around here has to be awakened, occasionally if not often, hence we herald the fact before the universe, this morning, that "Cheap John, from Idaho," and his associate are now prepared to drive the briskest kind of business, in their line, at their new auction and commission stand, East Temple Street, next to Reid's Drug Store, Groceries corner. Read their card in another column.

SPEAKING of things theatrical, the critic of the New York Tribune "peels the bark" off any thing that struck us for some time. Referring to the famous Keans, he says, "Mrs. Keane, of course, will play Lady Macbeth. The style of this lady's acting is intellectual, and the methods of her art are skillful and refined. Her success—such as it is—is the fruit of taste and long experience; but it is not particularly brilliant. There is a legend that she was once a great actress. The fire that used to burn, however, now burns no more. But Mrs. Keane is a stately lady and a subtly skilful artist, whom to see is always to like, if not always to admire." If you understand the emphatic ending, above, you're far ahead of our time.

But, changing the subject some, the dramatic editor of the New York Evening Post is either very varied, or very verdant in his calling. He says, "The dramatic season at Salt Lake City opened with Jaffa Dean Hayne in a new sensation play, picturing life upon the plains." Wonder if he mistook not Camille for the "Camel," or some such subject for a desert life!

By the Memories

Oh, these memories that come flooding back, they are the memories of a life that is long and full, and they are the memories of a life that is full of joy and sorrow, and they are the memories of a life that is full of love and pain.

United States 7.30 LOAN.

By authority of the Secretary of the Treasury, the undersigned, General Subscription Agent for the sale of United States securities, hereby publishes the following notice of the sale of the 7.30 Loan.

These notes are issued under date of July 15, 1893, and are payable three years from that date in currency, or are convertible at the option of the holder into—

U. S. 5.90 Six per Cent. Gold bearing Bonds.

The Bonds are now worth a handsome premium, and are exempt, as are all the Government Bonds, from County and Municipal taxation, which adds from one to three per cent. per annum to their value, according to the rate levied upon other property. The interest is payable semi-annually by coupons attached to each note, which may be cut off and sold to any bank or broker.

The interest at 7.30 per cent. amounts to— One cent per day on a $50 note. Two cents per day on a $100 note. Ten cents " " " $500 " Twenty cents " " " $1,000 " One Dollar " " " $5,000 "

Notes of all the denominations named will be promptly furnished upon receipt of subscription. The notes of this Third Series are precisely similar in form and privileges to the Series Thirties already sold, except that the Government reserves to itself the option of paying interest in gold coin at 6 per cent. instead of 7.30 in currency. Subscribers will deduct the interest in currency on to July 15th, at the time when the subscription is made.

The slight change made in the conditions of the seven thirties will commence on the first of June, and will be made promptly and continuously after that date.

The slight change made in the conditions of this THIRD SERIES affects only the matter of interest. The payment in gold, if made, will be equivalent to the currency interest of the higher rate.

The return to specie payments, in the event of which only will the option to pay interest in gold be available, would so reduce and equalize prices that purchases made with six per cent. in gold would be fully equal to those made with seven and three-tenths per cent. in currency. This is

The only Loan in the MARKET.

Now offered by the Government, and its superior advantages make it the Great popular Loan of the People.

Less than $230,000,000 of the Loan authorized by Congress are now on the market. This amount, at the rate at which it is being absorbed, will all be subscribed for within sixty days, when the notes will undoubtedly command a premium, as has uniformly been the case on closing the subscriptions to other Loans.

In order to facilitate every form and section of country may be secured facilities for taking the Loan; the National Banks, State Banks, and private Banks throughout the country have generally agreed to receive subscriptions at par. Subscribers will select their own agents, in whom they have confidence, and who only are to be responsible for the delivery of the notes for which the receipt is given.
